I currently serve as the Policy Advisor for Commissioner Andy Tobin of the Arizona Corporation Commission. The ACC acts as the State's Public Utility Commission and we work on the rate-making process for regulated utilities in Arizona.

Our Commission, however, has responsibilities that go beyond traditional public utilities regulation. These include facilitating the incorporation of businesses and organizations, securities regulation and railroad/pipeline safety. I work with Commissioner Tobin and our nine different divisions to adopt rules and regulations, make executive decisions, and pass judgment in contested matters that the Commission hears.

I am a communications and policy professional with experience developing and executing effective messaging strategies in both private and public sectors. I love the challenge of performing data driven analysis to find efficient, effective solutions to complex policy problems.

I received a degree in Communications and Advertising from BYU and my Masters in Public Policy focusing on Energy Policy from George Mason University.
